Dry Creek Valley

“This is a solid, carefully balanced offering that is every inch a Zin meant for the table, and it serves as a welcome reminder that, when handled right, the varietal is a fine foil for a wide range of foods.”

2005 HERITAGE ZINFANDEL

Sonoma County

“Ripeness appears here in the form of cocoa and dried berries rather than in heaviness or heat, and the wine shows both a bit of polish and fairly good overall balance.”

2004 OLD VINE ZINFANDEL

Sonoma County

“Standing apart from its mates and dint of its hard-to-ignore tannins, but still solidly fruited and very much on the varietal path, this sturdy young Zin is shot through with ripe berries and gets a boost in overall richness from its nicely placed oak.”
