

“10 wines you should be drinking...but probably aren’t”

BY BILL DALEY

SEPTEMBER 19, 2007

2006 DRY CHENIN BLANC Clarksburg

“There are some very good chenin blancs made around the world; all, save the Vouvrays of France, seem to fly below the radar of most wine lovers. Pity, since chenin blanc is such a great food wine, especially with ethnic dishes packing some heat. This California wine boasts warm, sweet notes of citrus, melon and tropical fruit just begging to be paired with a Thai curry or a Chinese stir-fry. Plenty of tangy, tingly acidity keeps it lively.”

Dry Creek
VINEYARD

