WINE ENTHUSIAST

“From century-old vines, mainly in Dry Creek Valley, this is a big Zin, jam-packed with purple-and black-skinned stone fruits and berries.”

THE WINE REPORT

“A dark black wine with a gorgeous purple rim provided fruit tones of berries and raisins with black pepper that are front and center. Bring this to your next dinner party or savor it at home with rib-eye steak or pancetta-wrapped beef tenderloin.”

BALTIMORE SUN

“If you are a fan of no-holds-barred zinfandel, this is a sterling example of the breed with true “old vines” character and intense blackberry, spice and black pepper flavors. Made from vines older than 80 years old, it’s not for the faint of palate. For all its power, its texture is smooth and there’s no sign of alcoholic heat in the finish.”
