

2010 CHENIN BLANC

CNN Eatocracy - "A CHENIN BLANC BOTTLE TO HUNT DOWN"

July 12, 2011

This peachy wine comes from Clarksburg, in California's Sacramento River delta. No oak here, just zippy stainless-steel-tank freshness.

2009 CHENIN BLANC

WineSpectator.com - "86 POINTS – DAILY WINE PICK"

July 13, 2011

Chamomile, fresh hay, lemon and tangerine flavors are intense, crisp and dry, with a terrific focus and a refreshing finish. Drink now.

Sunset - "TOP PICK"

June 2011

Honeysuckle and Meyer lemon aromas meet a rush of melon, apple, and citrus, with a tangy, limestone finish.

Wine Enthusiast Magazine - "87 POINTS – BEST BUY"

February 2011

A beautiful Chenin, among the best in California. Although it is dry, as the name suggests, and very crisp in acidity, it's so fruity it almost tastes off-dry. The flavors are of green apples, lemons, limes and pineapples. Great as an alternative to Sauvignon Blanc or Pinot Grigio.

Food & Wine Magazine - “AMAZING VALUE”

October 2010

Chenin Blanc is one of the world’s most underated white grapes.

2008 CHENIN BLANC

The Tasting Panel - “88 POINTS”

October 2009

Smooth, clean and mellow with ripe tropical fruit, good acid structure and a long finish; fresh, balanced and charming.

Food & Wine Magazine - “5 FAIL-SAFE WINE VALUES”

September 2009

Some California wines have such a strong track record that vintage essentially becomes moot.

This Sonoma producer has been making crisp, peachy Chenin Blanc for more than 30 years, first from healdsburg and now from the Clarksburg AVA.
